Recently, I visited a website with FireFox, and at that point, I was surprised to discover an unvisited tab on that same page. I still don't know what to think about it. Here is a shot of that tab: On the left side of the page, there are some common items, such as the RSS icon, but the little button named "Create New Feed" is locked and greyed out. I click on it and try to create a new feed but FireFox says "Insufficient Privileges" with a yellow warning triangle and something that looks like the following: What does that mean? Does that mean that all my feeds are set to read only? EDIT: More info: I use IE9, but I've heard you can't create a new Feeds with IE8 I'm using a fresh install of Windows 7 32bit It appears to be a one-time issue A: It means that there is a particular feed you need to log in to. I'll log on there and see if it will work for me in that case. EDIT: Try going here: and clicking on the top blue links and then on the top right links: A 20-year old White House intern is pleading for a presidential pardon after being convicted of shoplifting from the Navy Yard store in the Black Market District of Washington. According to the Huffington Post, Laura Rojas has been sentenced to one year of probation and community service after being caught stealing a $130 Starbucks mug from the store last July. ADVERTISEMENT A judge ordered her to pay $750 in restitution after concluding that the shop
